GOV. EASLEY REAPPOINTS WHITE TO THE WILDLIFE RESOURCES COMMISSION

RALEIGH – Gov. Mike Easley has reappointed W. Ray White of Nags Head to the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission.

White is former regional president of RBC Centura Bank. He is a member of the Outer Banks Community Foundation, the Dare Education Foundation and the N.C. Aquarium Society. He received a Bachelor's degree in accounting from East Carolina University.

The commission manages, conserves and protects the wildlife resources of North Carolina. The commission has 19 members, each serving either a four- or six-year term. The governor appoints 11 members. The Senate President Pro Tempore and Speaker of the House each appoint four members.
